Deborah Campbell
Executive Medical Director
Amgen Australia

Dr Deborah Campbell is the current Executive Medical Director of Amgen Australia/NZ.

Prior to joining Pharma, she has been a palliative care physician for 20 years, most recently as Area Director Palliative Care Services, Northern Sydney Area Health Service and Royal North Shore Hospital.

Dr Campbell has recently returned to Australia to take up this position after a period of 3 years in the US where she was responsible for the oversight of an extensive clinical research program with the US Cooperative Groups in Oncology.

Her own areas of research interest and publication are in pain control treatments, multidisciplinary aspects of care of the dying, end-of-life issues.
